

An Introduction to PARADIM workshop at CAU

Julie Nucci, Cornell University
Xiao-Qian (Larry) Wang, Clark Atlanta University

PARADIM leveraged its partnership with Clark Atlanta University by holding a one-day workshop to introduce PARADIM to an audience of primarily Atlanta University Center (AUC) researchers from Clark Atlanta University, Morehouse College, and Spelman College. PARADIM faculty and facility staff for theory, thin film and bulk crystal growth, electron microscopy, and education presented opportunities and offered one-on-one consultation sessions to 25 participants (36% female/52% African American). Roughly half of the participants were faculty members and one quarter each were undergraduate and graduate students. Several faculty spontaneously invited PARADIM scientists to visit their labs and discuss their research interests. We anticipate proposals and applications for PARADIM educational opportunities will result from this workshop.

